

B-MOVIE UNDERGROUND & TRASH FILMFESTIVAL IN BREDA 4 -8 SEPTEMBER 2013

From Wednesday the 4th of September till Sunday the 8th of September, the 8th edition of the B-movie, Underground and Trash Film Festival (BUTFF) will once again be held in the city centre of Breda, The Netherlands.

BUT is a small and intimate, but unique international film festival. Not only is the festival a paradise for B-movie trash and underground movie lovers from around the world, BUT also provides a diverse line-up of unique acts and performances by musicians, poets, artists and other performers. You won't find a festival similar to BUTFF anywhere else in Europe.

Proving by the increasing number of visitors each year, BUT Film Festival is an indispensable addition to the existing film festivals in Europe. We notice a lot of people coming back each year to experience the ultimate 'BUT-feeling'.

BUT 2013: Evolution

The theme this year is Evolution. Crazy doctors, poisonous garbage dumps and radioactive radiation can produce the most gruesome creatures. We will show you movies in which filmmakers will show you their wildest ideas. We will also venture into the wonderful world of the smaller creatures on earth with a lecture and film about insects.

Albert Pyun

Main guest this year is Albert Pyun. His name is connected to a long list of movies in which he worked with many great names. He is considered a pioneer in the action movie genre and made movies like Cyborg, Kickboxer 2 and Knights. But Pyun is not a filmmaker that only sticks to one genre. He proves this in his Nemesis sequence and is 1990 rendition of Captain America. Like Edward D. Wood Jr., Albert Pyun has an outspoken interest for the bizarre, which is why he is often compared with this filmmaker from the fifties.

During BUTFF we will show you two of his last movies and some of his older work. Further, we can't guarantee it yet his latest movie Cyborg Nemesis is still in post production, but might be shown during BUTFF! In the lead is Kevin Sorbo, better known as "Hercules".

In our next press releases we will inform you about special guest Jan Bucquoy and the Freakshow organized by House of Wax.
